EST MODUS IN BEBUS. WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 30, 1881.

Supreme Court of the Hawaiian Islands Special Term, November, 1881. UNIONA VS. MARPORALINY-IN BINCO.

Jude C. J., McCally and Austin J. J.-Opinion of the Court by Juid, C. J. "IOLANI," H. Carrels, Master, This is an action of tresposs for taking fruit certain to secure all that is asked of his pro-from certain orange trees at Waimes. Only, tried specific an cessor. One would suppose so. recountly by the District Justice of Koolaulon, 5th May, 1881, who gave judgment for plaintiff for

Just May 19th, and gave judgment for the de-

Rendant.

It was further appealed to the Supreme Court, and on the 17th July Mr. Justice Jurd pressiling, the case was presented to a jury empancified to try the cause, which rendered a vertice for plaintiff with $1.00 damages. The defendant moves for a new trail on the ground that the Justice who presided at soid trial had previously given a judgment in the case and was therefore disqualified to preside at the trial before the jury.

Therendant's Counsel relies on the latter part of Sec. $20 of the Civil Code which rands: "Seither shall any Judge sit alone on an appeal, or new Defendant's Commact relies on the latter part of Sec. 820 of the Civil Code which tends: "Neither shall any Judge sit alone on an appeal, or new trail in any case in which he may have given a previous judgment," and also upon the Time Articles of the Constitution, "No Judge or Magistrate can sit alone on an appeal or new trail in any case on which he may have given a previous judgment." The object of this article of the Constitution and the Section of the Code is to secure a new tribunal for parthes in case they appeal and it is evident that they would not have such a tribunal if a Judge who heard the case upon the law and facis should, on the appeal, in another Court, present himself as alone constituting the appellate Court of on a new trial being granted, having once tried the case, he should assume to retry it alone.

The case before us had been tried before the Intermediaty Court, which is a single Justice of the Supreme Court, and the appeal beought the case to be tried again on the fagts refere a Judy of twelve men, under the direction of a Justice of the Supreme Court who happened to be the stime ore who sat in Intermediary Court. It cannot be said that in such case the Justice presiding sits "alone." The Judy of the case and it determines its feats of the mean and the determines its feats of the mean and the said of the Judge in relation to the law involved.

It cannot well be chained that a party who appeals generally on the lasts of his case. For if the appealing party is aggreed by the Judges' findings of fact he is to have a new trial on the facts by the judges' findings of fact he is to have a new trial on the facts by the judges' findings of fact he may appeal to the Supreme Court in ings of fact he is to have a new trial on the facts by the jury, and if he is anythered by the findings of law, he may appeal to the Suprene Court in Bunco, either directly on the law or through the channel of a jury trial and exceptions to the directions of the Judge. So far as the policy is concerned of having a different Judge sit with a jury on a case appealed from the Internecting Court, it would not be decisive to obtain the opinion of one judge on the law of a case while sitting as Internediacy Court, and then, an appeal to obtain the opinion of another judge while presioning over the jury in the Supreme Court. The more satisfactory cause would be, if the law is Isid down by the Intermediary Court was thought to be errorseous, to appeal directly on the point to the Supreme Court in Banco.

the intermediary Court was thought to be errorses, to appendiffectly on the point to the Supreme Court in Bonco.

The above statutes are also intended to prevent the sixting of the same person alone as a circuit Judge on the appeal of a case from himself as Police or Bismet Judge, in case he had been promoted to be Girent Judge, while the appeal was pending; as also, if a Circuit Judge had been elevated to the Supreme bench, he would be one qualified from sixting alone on cases which he had previously tried.

We are of opinion that the circumstances of the case before us are not those contemplated and forbidden by the Constitution and the statute New trial refused.

Honolulu, Nov. 26th, 1881. A Comedy in Real Life.

The Covering Louise reports a comedy in real life which took place in Eric, Penn., last Life Insurance Policies Issued week. The hereine was a buxon young wo-man, whose bushand died a year age. When she had worn her weeds six menths the would-be herp of the play came a-wooling ow she consented to marry him in twelve months and a day from the dute of her first husband's death. The happy day fell or Wednesday last, and the ceremony was to tal card from him, stating that he had con-scientious scruples about marrying a woman so recently wislowed. He would make it a matter of prayer, and would shide the result of his feelings when through. She was not to take this as a positive declination to marry, but if he did not arrive at 6 o'clock p.M. she might consider the marriage "off." The without did not frint, nor go leto hysterics, but douned her wedding attics and welcomed her guests with a smiling face. At 6 o'clock all the guests were there, and with them, of surse, the minister; but no bridgeroun appeared. With unraffled countenance. expectant bride "called the meeting to order," and read aloud the recreant lave's card. When the storm of surprise and denunciation had subsided she added: "But that needn't HAP Carter, spell the dinner," and thersupen the guests J.C. Glade. il to banqueting, none more beartify than the mistress of the house herself. When the Me was cleared dancing began, and an elderly inchelor led the German with the disappointed (?) bride. He became so enamored of her that within an hour he proposed; he was accepted; the minister was recalled; and at F W Macfarlane, 11 P.M. the wedding took place, with the new bridgeroon. But scarcely had the bridal kiss been bestowed when in rushed the too-conscientious lover, who, after a protracted season of prayer, had concluded to come back and wed. He was just in time to congratulate the bride, not his now, but another's, and men hastily stole away, resolved with stiffe conscience ere he sought another bride. Women and Civilization. Social science affirms that woman's place in society marks the level of civilization. its twilight in Greece, through the Italian worship of the Virgin, the dreams of chivalry, the justice of the civil law, and the equality of French society, we trace her gradual recogni-tion; while our common law, as Lord Brougham confessed, was, with relation to women, the opprehrium of the age and of Christianity. For forty years, plain men and women, working uniselessly, have washed away that opprobrium; the statute-books of thirty States have been remodelled, and wo constands to-day almost face to face with her last claim-the ballot. It has been a weare and thankless, though successful struggle. But if there be any reluge from andCane Dump Carts

But, at any rate, up to this point, putting suffrage aside, there can be no difference of opinion; everything bern of Christianity, or aified to Grecian culture or Saxon law, must aprising only to fling every obstacle in its way. The first glimpse we get of Salon blood in history is that line of Tacirus in his "Germany," which reads. "In all grave matters they consult their watten." Years hence, when robust Suzon sense has flung away Jewish superstition and Enstern projection and put under its foot fastidious scholarship and squeamish fashion, some second Tacitus, from the valley of the Mississippi, will an-swer to him of the Seven Hills, "In all grave investion of the present minister of war of that so-called government, is nothing less than a pit of venomous serpents, the horrors of which surpass the wildest dreams of Dante. This pit or den lies just outside the city walls, and to the brink of it those charged with crime or with not paying their taxes are led. In a deep hole the unhappy wretch sees a writhing mass of pois nous anakes, scorpions, toads, and all manner of leathsome things that creep and crawl. A glimpse of the dreadful sight is usually sufficient to accomplish the purpose the terturers have in view, but where that fails the wretched victim is forthwith thrown in, and it is said that a sight of his sufferiogs in Major Sanger and the Mule Whacker.

The case was appealed to the Intermediary Major Sanger, who is known in more court of Oabs, which was held by Mr. Justice slang as a bantare, was returning one day recently from Bismarck to Fort Lincoln, which recently from Bismarck to Fort Lincoln, which Major Sanger, who is known in military is across the river, and the ambalance is which he was rilling was delayed by a team and wagon, driven by one of the class known as mule whackers in this country.
